

ZERO CONTAMINATION

CasaCalma Hotel is one of the first's ECO-FRIENDLY hotels in Argentina. Since the construction and design the hotel's owners thought in every detail and made sure that all the material used in the building were certificated and eco-friendly, contributing this way to the SUSTAINABLE TOURISM.

Recently we joined a very concrete action AGAINST THE GLOBAL WARMING, taking part in projects of clean development that help to reduce the emission of carbon in the atmosphere and protecting the climate. This program consists of compensating the damage generated by the electricity.

Our contribution is applied to the following projects:

- ✿ Capturing carbon in Mexico's Poor Communities: consists of the reforestation of approximately 400 hectares of land which were, many years ago, converted for agricultural and farming purposes to fight poverty and increase sustainable development in the area.
- ✿ Generation of wind power in India. This project consists of a group of wind turbines from different small promoters in the areas of Maharashtra and Gujarat, India.
- ✿ Preservation of Serra do Lucindo in Brazil: Consists of protecting the virgin Atlantic Jungle, its innumerable vegetable and animal species, and its duty of storing carbon concentrated in its biomass.

Other developed actions:

- ✿ The wood and papers used in the construction were bought with the FSC certification (Forest Stewardship Council)

- ✿ The building is wrapped with plants that act as filters and contribute to the thermal balance, saving energy efficiently.

- ✿ Double glazed windows that allow the most hermetic environment.

- ✿ System of energy consumption control

- ✿ Wallpaper made out of synthetic fiber fabric, contributing to a minor consumption of deforestation trees.
